Julia Danenburg Butler: I remember having an Easter egg hunt at his and Mrs. Sue's house when I was small. I tripped on a tree root and skinned my knee. Mr. Roy picked me up, cradled me in his arms, and carried me in the house to administer first aid. I don't remember much else about that day but I do remember that Mr. Roy made me feel like I was the most important and loved person in the universe. I will never forget his gentle, kind, loving, compassionate spirit toward me. I was really young but you just don't forget it when people make you feel like that. He as a great man!

So many good memories of Roy, too numerous to list. My first memories of "Mr. Roy" are when I was very young and my parents were the Chapmans' close friends (in NC). My most recent memory was visiting them in Florida a few years ago. Roy brought Sue and me coffee in bed. Such a jovial, giving heart he had.
