Charles R. Barmore

DEC 26, 1942 - AUG 10, 2020

Dr. Charles Barmore, Research Fellow, Philanthropist
December 26, 1942 – August 10, 2020

Charles was the son of the late John and Jessie Mae Barmore of Groveland, FL. He was the devoted and loving husband of Dianne, who survives him in Mt. Dora, FL. Other survivors include his brother and wife, Marvin and Cindy Barmore of Leesburg, FL, his sister and husband, Betty Lou and Bob Russell of Leesburg and three nephews: Mark and Andrea Russell, Randy Russell and Scott Russell. Charles earned a bachelor's degree at Clemson University and his Master's and PhD at the University of Florida. He worked at the UF Citrus Research Center in Lake Alfred, FL before going with Cryovac, a food packaging company in Duncan, SC where he remained until his retirement in 2008. While there he built and managed a lab for the research and development of food packaging, developed techniques for the safe handling of food, gave worldwide seminars, published articles and received numerous awards and patents for food preservation.

Charles was a warm, kind, generous, caring and helpful friend and neighbor assisting them with designing their lawns, grafting, planting and the caring of plants, his love. He also loved the companionship of these neighbors as they boated and fished together on Lake Hartwell, SC.

His final act of philanthropy was donating his brain to a brain bank at the Medical University of SC for the research of Parkinson's Disease. A research fund has been established at both the University of FL and the Medical University of SC. If you choose to donate in his memory, following are details on how to do that.

For the University of Florida:

Diane, I missed your message, just turned on my cell this a.m. I am sad to hear that Charles passed away. But my memories of him as a friend and colleague remain vivid as he was the smartest scientist I ever had contact with as well as his pursuit of solving problems. Charles helped me in many ways professionally and was always asking about Joyce and me. Really, really special person. I just hope Joyce and I will get to see you one day for a visit. Take care of yourself, you are special also. We miss the interaction with you. Stay safe and best to you. Jim

I am so sad to learn of Charles' passing. We enjoyed so much the times we spent with you both. I know Palmer loved and respected him. Amanda and Jefferson were also saddened and recalled all the wonderful times at the lake. May God bless.

I first met Charlie when he arrived at the CREC in the early 70's to join our postharvest working group at Lake Alfred after receiving his degree at the University of Florida. Charlie was a very friendly, pleasant, and cooperative guy and we immediately found common research interests where he as a physiologist and I as a pathologist could join together and conduct research that resulted in numerous publications. Our families soon became acquainted and we found we had mutual friends of Dianne's in our home state of Missouri. We had fun times getting together including our children to boat, ski, and fish. Charlie and I often had lunch together at his house in Lake Alfred where he would show me his latest project, Charlie always had a project! We served together on the Christmas Party Committee when we used to have the party in the packinghouse sitting on field crates eating our meal and listening to Cynthia Evans and the other secretaries singing Christmas carols. I sincerely was saddened when Charlie decided in 1985 after promotion to Professor to leave academia and join Cryovac in South Carolina, but I knew he would do well there. Charlie was a friendly, honest, and compassionate person who will be greatly missed, we love you Charlie, rest in peace. Mary Lou & Eldon
