My mom and dad (Jane and Harry Clark) adopted Rick and his brother Larry when Richard was three years old. I didn't live at home very long after they were adopted, but we stayed in touch thru the years. My parents adopted both Rick and Larry because they were brothers and they wanted to keep them together. I have always been thrilled that Rick gave his heart to Jesus years ago. To be absent from the body is to be present with the Lord. Richard is well now. No more pain. Cancer is gone. We will see each other again and in the meantime I want to get and stay very close to Sheralyn. I'd like to know all the things Rick knows now!

I only wish I had more time with Richard. Our mom did her best, but it wasn't good enough. I missed so much and had never gotten that time back. I loved him so dearly from afar. I just hope he knew how much I loved him. We will see each other again and we will be together as brother and sister should have been all these years. I'm thankful Richard went to a loving family and found God. He was blessed to have such an adoptive family that he did. Maybe someday I'll meet them too. I love you Richard. Until we meet again.

Thank you for showing me how a woman should be treated, loved, and cherished. ❤️

Thank you for being my safe place, my comforter, and protector. Thank you for always laughing at my jokes and eagerly waiting to hear about the HR drama of the day.

Thank you for teaching me to believe in myself and stand up for what I believe in.

Thank you for being the best, most supportive and amazing Dad ❤️ I know that my grief will come in waves, but I am blessed to be at peace through my tears, safe in the knowledge that you and God are watching over us always. I love you Daddy-O ❤️
